

The School of Economic Sciences (SES)

Department of Accounting

Tehran, Iran

Email: zahradianati@yahoo.com

Professor Zahra Dianati Dilami, Ph.D., is assistant professor of accounting at The School of Economic Sciences (SES). She received her Ph.D. from the Tarbiat Modares University. She specializes in managerial and international Accounting and has taught several accounting courses in managerial accounting and Not-for-Profit Accounting.

She has published ~~tw~~ articles in international accounting journals including The Review of Accounting and Finance journal (2007, Vol.6, No.3), Advances in Accounting, incorporating Advances in International Accounting (2009, Vol 25), and thirteen articles in different reputable Iranian accounting journals. She also has presented several articles at domestic and international accounting conferences. Miss. Dianati-Dilami has written a financial management text book, which is currently used in her teaching course. She has several work experience including consulting experiences in activity-based costing with Alifard(Sun Ich) Corporation in Iran.

Dr. Dianati's research focuses on Quality of financial information, budgeting, culture, performance evaluation, and event studies.